

Layer2 Tag Directory Web Part for SharePoint

Compatible with:

SharePoint

SharePoint 2013
SharePoint 2010

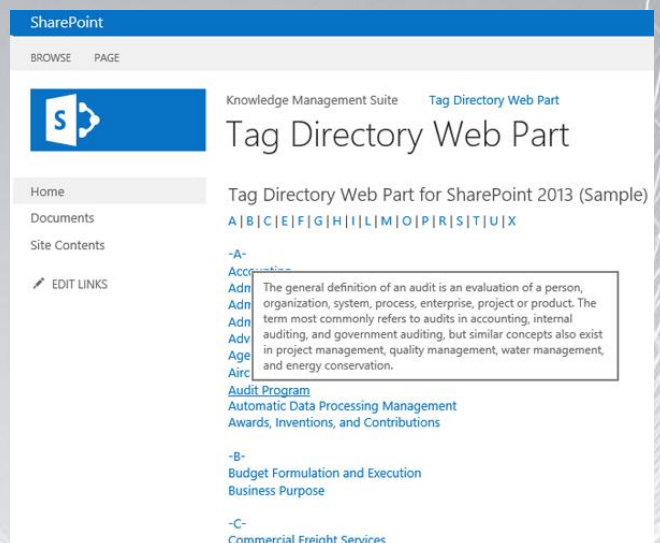

Features & Benefits

The Layer2 Tag Directory Web Part for SharePoint can render taxonomies of managed metadata and enterprise keywords right from the SharePoint Term Store and also social tags as a flat A-Z index directory or glossary of terms:

- More efficient information access on SharePoint portals: The Web Part offers an additional navigation that makes it very easy and fast to find information for users, that don't know, where the information is originally located.
- Company-wide glossary helps to build a common language: The web part also could be used as some kind of glossary, very helpful for employees to find a common corporate language and understanding in the enterprise.
- Well-known navigation - no training required: Alphabetically sorted directories are very common and well-known, e.g. in technical books. Users can work with this technique intuitively.
- No additional effort - Index is built automatically: The index is rendered automatically as a result of content classification using managed metadata. Starting nodes can be given from existing term Tagging can optionally be done completely automatically with Layer2 Auto Tagger for SharePoint.
- Flexible design and linking: The web part comes with XSLT template-based output for static and dynamic display. Additional information, such as the number of tagged items can be displayed, if available. The items can be linked to the tag profile page or any custom page as well as directly to a list of the classified content items and documents.
- 100% SharePoint: The solution is completely based on the new Enterprise Metadata Management API of SharePoint 2010 / 2013 and is certified to be "Microsoft Platform Ready for SharePoint 2010".
- External Data can be included: You can also include almost any external corporate data source with the help of additional Layer2 connectivity tools.

"We were able to successfully use the tag rules, tag suggestions and the auto-tagging features in your KMS product. Great product and thanks for offering it at a reasonable price point."
